TEENER... of the week.

By Beverly Henderson

Everyone admires a fleetfooted football player. Because Jody Crane's hobbies are centered around sports, and because he is good at them, you'll instictively like Jody.

"Any kind of sports," says he is to his liking. He's active not only in Varsity football but in Varsity track as well.

This sixteen year old senior came to Lemon Grove four years ago from Linda Vista where he attended Kearney High School. He cut himself a sizeable notice in the sports fraternity with his sportsman-like qualities and ability.

He is the son of the C. C. Cranes of 2612 Massachusetts Ave. His vocation has not been settled but for the next few years it wouldn't surprise anyone to see him in a starring role when and if he goes to State.

Grove Kiwanis To Attend Convention

The Kiwanis Club of Lemon Grove will be represented at the 1952 convention of the California-Nevada-Hawaii Kiwanis District at Sacramento, Calif., October 5-8, Club President Channing P. Mason announced today.

The local representatives to the convention will be Mason and Byrons Netzley.

Delegates from 275 clubs in the district representing a membership of 16,600 business and professional leaders, will participate in the various sessions. Committee conferences, a discussion of plans for the coming year and election of officers will highlight the convention program, Mason said.

The presiding officer will be Stary Gange, governor of the California - Nevada - Hawaii Kiwanis District and fruit grower of Lindsay, Calif. The Kiwanis Clubs of Sacramento and Greater Broadway will be hosts to the convention.

Grove School Attendance Nears 2500

Last week when the doors of the five schools in the Lemon Grove School District opened, 2327 pupils enrolled in the classes, kindergarten through the eighth grade. This is the largest enrollment yet for the schools of this district and shows an increase of approximately 300 over this same time last year. With similar increases expected during this term, the enrollment will probably reach 2500 sometime during the year.

Even in view of the fact that the rapid growth of the community is swelling the number of pupils in the classrooms, it should be noted that double sessions in the district have been confined to the first grades and two second grades. All other classes are enjoying a full day of instruction. Last year at this time practically all classes through the fifth grade were forced to hold double sessions because of lack of classrooms. Ten new rooms have been added to the schools since then, making full day sessions possible.

By comparison of some neighboring school districts, the class load per teacher is much better at Lemon Grove. The average class load here is now 33, allowing for more individual attention to pupils and better instruction for all.

Because of the age change in state regulations for registration, the kindergarten enrollment fell short of expectations. It was necessary this week to transfer some kindergarten pupils from the Golden Avenue School to Monterey Heights School in order to lower the class load in the former school. Although the children will be attending another school, patrons should bear in mind that they will be receiving the same good teaching under the same program. All pupils will be returned to the schools nearest their homes as soon as conditions permit.

To lower the class load and to avoid possible double session, pupils were also transferred this week from the first, second, third and fifth grades of the San Miguel School to the Vista La Mesa School. These transfers were from the McClurken and Our Trailer Courts.

Enrollment for schools in the district is as follows:

Vista La Mesa School (Clarence Allen, principal)—496.

Monterey Hts. School (Arthur Thomas principal)—489.

San Miguel School (Robert Sutton, principal)—314.

Golden Avenue School (Evelyn Lauritzen, principal)—468.

Intermediate School (Ben Schei, principal)—560.

Business Heads Can Save School Costs; Article Suggests

Says the item: "Know how was called on to pare school-building costs in Torrance, California.

"After officials of 15 companes in that industrial community (pop. 33,000) put their heads together, the townspeople saw this result: Two new schools at a cost of $10.90 per square foot, vs. the state average of $14."

Scenes of conviviality, such as this, will be the order of the day starting October 3rd when Michael's Steak House and Cocktail Lounge opens.

The new cafe, 7828 Broadway, will be operated by Henry Goldey, widely known in the meat packing business. He will bring this experience into play in the food part of the business.

Sat. Ev. Post Carries Feature On Encinitas Grandma

An 89-year-old Encinitas grandmother is the undisputed queen of commercial gladiolus breeders, according to the current (September 27th) issue of The Saturday Evening Post.

This recognition of Elizabeth Briggs, of Encinitas, is considered unusual because she got a late start in the hybridizing game. Author Frank J. Taylor reports that for her, life began at 51 with a handful of bulbs, which she has pyramided, in the face of many setbacks, into a thriving cut-flower business, plus an eminent niche in flori-culture for herself.

The article entitled "The Amazing Blossoms of Grandma Briggs," relates that Mrs. Briggs' idea of taking it easy is three or four hours daily on the handle of an ancient hoe, whose blade has been worn to a ludicrous stub by 30 years of purging weeds and stirring the soil around her 5,000 gladioli offspring.

"In three decades Mrs. Briggs has created the tops in gladioli through a well-executed series of shotgun weddings," Taylor writes. And she has many more planned.

Grandma Briggs, who feels she still has a lot of work to do and not much time left, has actually cut Nature's timetable in half. Whereas it ordinarily takes two years to judge the 100-odd small fry from a pollination marriage between two strains of gladioli, she pollinates in June, gathers seed in July, plants them in August, digs the resulting bulblets, about the size of fat peas, in December, replants them in February and sees new-generation blossoms by midsummer.

Mrs. Briggs and her son, Donald, operate a 100-acre bulb farm near Oceanside, which grows gladioli, ranunculi and bird-of-paradise flowers for the cut-flower trade. The half-acre hybridizing farm at Encinitas, she called Seventh Heaven, is her personal venture.

Final arrangements have been completed for the Kiwanis-Kid's Day program scheduled to start at noon Saturday. Walter Church, of the Silver trapped into fame will be Grand Marshal for the parade.

The parade starts from Massachusetts and Broadway at 12 o'clock and swings down to Imperial where it turns right to the Junior High School grounds on School Lane. There, a talent show m.c.'d by KFMB's tv star, Monte Hall will get under way as the parade ends.

The parade will be colorful with prizes going to costumes. Riders from the area will take part in the event. Helix and Lemon Grove school bands, squads of pom-pom girls and baton twirlers will have important parts in the affair.

After the famous singing cowboy Monte Hall completes his talent stint and awards the prizes to the talent winners, all hands will head for Helix for a football game between Grossmont and Helix with elements of the varsity of each school going into the fray.

The football game is scheduled to get under way about 2:30 and a between-halves entertainment program has been worked out by the Kiwanis committee.

Following the game, a hobby show will be held at the Youth Center, this also on School Lane. More prizes will be distributed here.

Kiwanis-Kid's Day program committees pointed out that the entire schedule of events is free to all. Alhough several hundred kids are expected to take part, a special and urgent invitation is given adults whose interests in the project can assure its success.

Chan Mason, Grove Kiwanis president pointed out that there would be no charge of any kind, nor would collections be taken up.

The Kiwanis-Kid's Day celebration is part of a nationwide project held in practically every city and town in the U. S. on this date.

While every Kiwanian worked himself to the nubbin helping to get the affair rolling, committeemen Tom Warburton, Chan Mason, John Dail, Howard Steiner and Virgil Fox have performed yeoman service its extended effort on the project.

All adults, whether they have school age kiddies or not, should lend moral support to the once-a-year project. This can best be done by standing at the parade sideline or attending one or more of the scheduled events.

You couldn't spend a nickle if you wanted to because all events are free.

Purtee To Manage New Store

Roy Lane this week named Ray Purtee, 7269 Pacific Ave., manager of the new shoe store he will open on Broadway as soon as the building is ready to house it.

The new shop will occupy the present Wigton address as soon as the new structure, being built for the ladies' wear firm by Tony Sonka, is completed.

Purtee, well known locally for his activity in Congregational Church work, has been an area resident for 18 years.

He was associated with Streicher's in San Diego for 9 years and during the war worked with the fire department of Consolidated. Later he joined the La Mesa-Lemon Grove-Spring Valley Irrigation District.

Purtee has had wide experience in orthopedic fittings and is a graduate of the American School of Practipedics in St. Louis.

Fire Chief's Weekly Letter

Howdy Folks:

The life of a Fire Chief is not always a happy one. Nature, and a series of circumstances, is ganging up on your department to start fires in addition to those started carelessly by citizens.

For example, we have traced three fires, the latest one this week, to the sun rays being magnified through a drinking water bottle. Save your possessions and your loved ones by moving such bottles, whether filled or empty, away from the path of the sun's rays. The latest fire by such cause was at 7947 Nichals Street in Monterey Heights.

This week's prize, a package of foam rubber cigarettes and a king sized dunce cap goes to the careless smokers who started fires at Imperial and Mt. Vernon and at 27800 Buena Vista.

Your for safety
Chief Carmody.

P. T. A. Group Holds Meeting

Sixth, seventh and eighth grades P.T.A.'s of Lemon Grove School met at the San Miguel School auditorium Thursday evening. Mrs. Robert Beckham presided. Girl Scouts of the iVsta La Mesa Troop 388, with Mrs. J. L. Conlee, presented the colors. Inspirational thought was given by Mrs. Charles Correll, who was later ratified member of the executive board as Citizenship and Inspiration Chairman.

The 1952-53 budget, presented by Burton Jones, auditor, was accepted unanimously.

Mrs. Beckham introduced members of the board, and Ben Schei, principal, who introduced teachers. Room representatives were presented by Mrs. J. W. Burgreen.

Myron Green, assistant supervisor of music of the San Diego City Schools, was introduced by Mrs. Virgil Danielson, program chairman. Mrs. Edward Kinyon presented a anovel get-acquainted game. Refreshments were served by seventh grade room representatives with Mrs. R. C. Taylor, chairman. Room count awards were won by Mrs. June Mason, Mrs. Margaret Darroch and Mr. Keith Dolan.

The next meeting of the Lemon Grove P.-T.A. will be held at San Miguel on October 16.

Public Showing Of Hospital Likeness

A scale showing of the proposed Grossmont District hospital is scheduled for Wednesday, Oct. 8, at Helix Theatre. The showing, open to the public is set for 1 p. m.

The architectural firm of Pierra and Luckman, well known school and hospital experts, will make a full presentation of schematic plans according to Homer Streich. Forty board members of the district, doctors and interested citizens are expected to swell the attendance.

Property for the proposed building, according to Streich has been "sewed up." This property, 25 acres in all, lies west of Grossmont High School.

The hospital will be built by a bond issue to be floated in the spring. Approximately one third of the cost will come from the bond issue, another third from state funds and the rest via a federal grant.

All interested citizens are asked to come to the showing.

Five Teachers To Attend Leader's Conference

Five delegates from the Lemon Grove School District will attend the Twelfth Annual Leaders Conference at Camp Seeley in the San Bernardino Mountains, September 26 to 28.

Sponsored by the California Teachers Association, Southern Section, the conference acts as celaring house for professional though, with its traditional potpourri of problems, purposes, and play.

Check For Lower Insurance Payments Is Advice

Lemon Grove insurance agents this week warned local policyholders to check their premium charges if they are insured with outside-the-area agents.

Many "foreign" agents, it has been pointed out, have failed to remember the dramatic reduction in fire insurance rates for Lemon Grove which went into effect in June.

One agent, checking a small policy for such discrepencies, turned up at $52.00 overcharge.

Best advice is to make sure your after-June payments are

Stamp Collecting Is Popular In Grove

Mrs. Esther Hamline local consumer, takes Green Stamps from John Dresbach at Marjohn's Appliance Store. Such transactions are duplicated hundreds of times each day in Lemon Grove.

Grove area residents will become the county's leading stamp collectors if a group of local merchants have anything to do about it.

The stamps are the popular S & H Green variety and merchants distribute them as an added incentive for sales.

Mrs. Housewife, with an eye on the family budget and a weakness for "plus" values, gobbles up an enormous amount of them, pastes them into a book, and eventually trades them in for S & H premiums. Premium choices run the gamut of a well stocked department store's merchandise list.

Interest in Green Stamps was heightened last month when the entire fraternity of Green Stamp merchants entered a co-operative publicity project, "A good deal for the consumer," they said.

Some day it is the first time so many local businessmen would agree so wholeheartedly on a single subject and there isn't a hint of a break in the ranks as far as enthusiasm is concerned.

Inside Goodwin

by Max Goodwin

After being kept out of Germany for nearly a year as a result of pressure from the United States Government, the Hollywood production "The Desert Fox," a glorification of the career of Field Marshal Erwin Rommel, is now showing in that country. As might be expected, attendance has been terrific. Critics in both Britain and America have attacked the film on the grounds that in glorifying Rommel it glorifies Nazi militarism. And that's what the Allies have been patiently working against ever since the shooting stopped. Interestingly enough, the Communist organizations are doing all they can to discourage attendance at the theaters showing the picture. They're picketing the theaters and are reported to have turned mice loose in one movie to frighten away the patrons. The trick didn't work. Hollywood will do well financially at the German box office but there is a serious question as to the service it has rendered either to the Germans or to the people of the Western Nations.

"I REMEMBER"

BY THE OLD TIMERS

From Mrs. William Wedel, Strongsville, Ohio: Do you remember the good old days when a summer tan was a disgrace? The ladies wore mitts to the elbows, carried parasols, and oh, the time spent bathing the face and hands in a sticky mixture of sour milk and grated horseradish! Well, I rejoice now in a good healthy summer tan.

From S. I. McGinnis, Culloden, W. Va.: I remember how happy my father and mother used to be sitting winter nights around a large wood fire with eight children hulling dried beans.

From E. E. Meredith, Fairmont, W. Va.: Every family use to have hop vines in the front yard or garden from which the hops were gathered to make yeast for bread or poultices.

From Amelia Doctor, Denver: I remember when the floors in our houses were so cold that the children had to sit around the stove and put their feet in the oven to keep them warm.

From Jack Cox, Larkspur, Calif.: I remember the first rifle I ever saw. I watched Grandad make it. He patterned it after the Kentucky muzzle loading squirrel rifle. I learned to shoot it when I was seven, but the barrel was too heavy so he cut off 18 inches. He and Dad wound their big watches with keys. They made a sun dial for mother by sawing off the end of a log and marking the four directions on it. They put a stick in the middle to throw a shadown on large nails for the hours and small nails for the half-hours.

How to Remove Worry

JACK W. BOWEN, Cincinnati, Ohio, says he has found that worry can always be routed if you will keep physically active all the time.

His lot was once cast with the Philippine guerillas and worry could easily have been the password. As he crawled and wiggled across the beach the first night every tree branch or piece of driftwood appeared as a Japanese sentry. Every sound, he was sure, would be followed by a Japanese machine gun blast. Despite his fears, he managed to cross the beach and get well hidden in the brush beyond. There he had a talk with himself. He decided that worrying wasn't going to improve the situation. He could spend valuable time worrying about whether he would get out alive, get malaria, whether this or that, but none of this was going to solve the problem at hand. So the obvious answer was to get busy and forget worries and fears.

Carnegie

During the four months that followed he found that none of "his boys" were worrying. They were too busy harassing the enemy to have time for anything like worry. They were, for the most part, volunteer fighters with no formal training and, to the man, they wanted to be trained soldiers as well. He had had extensive training as a naval aviator, in military dril and procedures, so they organized and trained. During spare time he taught them the fundamentals of football. Between these activities and some night work against the Japs they were busy all the time. Looking back now he says he can honestly say that after the first night he never gave a thought to those little fears and worries that could easily have finished him in the Islands. He was much too busy to worry.

ACROSS the DESK

FROM The Douglas County Gazette, Waterloo, Neb.: "Honest George" is the salutation used by Fremont Chamber of Commerce secretary "Red" Motter whenever directing personal letters to yours truly, the editor. Right after being elected as one of the county commissioners "Red" was down to Valley trying to sell something or other for the community he represents and after his talk we had a little visit, with "Red" asking:

"Well, George, now that you are commissioner, what do the people call you?"

And my answer was simply: "What the people call me depends a lot upon the time of year, together with the weather."

He looked puzzled: "It does. How come?"

"Well, 'Red,' it's very simple. If we've had a lot of rain in the spring and people are getting stuck all over the county, they call me a lot of things. Or, if its during the winter months and the snow of the night before isn't clearned off the roads sometime during the following day, again the names aren't so nice. But, if the sun is shining, the birds singing, the bees buzzing, and the roads are a little bit on the dusty side, its 'Honest George'."

From The Oak Harbor (Wash.) News: As far as this particular community is concerned, it would be illogical to ask candidates to pledge themselves for a balanced budget. During the past few years we have collected thousands and thousands of dollars in federal money. We've got a new school paid for in federal money. We've paid thousands of dollars worth of goods to servicemen who bought with federal dollars.

Not only have we already collected from federal spending, there are those who wish more and yet more. Like a hog in a trough, they never get enough.

Now it's time for us to decide what we want in candidates. Do we want candidates who pledge themselves to help balance the budget? Or do we want candidates who say they'll work for the region's worthy projects. We must make up our minds. We can't have both. And beware of candidates who pledge both. They're either dishonest or ignorant.

From The Seville (Ohio) Chronicle: If Leonard Huffman wanders around town looking as of the world is a good place these days, don't sneer at him, because he's right and you're wrong.

Leonard lost his wallet, containing $22 and all the other assorted cards and papers that make wallets so troublesome to lose, at the Seville Memorial Park ball diamond Sunday evening. He went back that night to search for it, and he and a friend got up early Monday morning to renew the search. No luck.

But in the morning mail, arriving after he had gone to work, was the wallet, complete with money, and a note, "From a friend".

A good friend, apparently.

SUNDAY'S SERMON

Luke, Physician and Historian
Lesson: Luke 1: 1-4; Acts 1: 1-3; 16: 6-10; Colossians 4: 14
Golden Text: Acts 1: 8.

LUKE was a physician and he became one of the greatest of all historians. He was the only author among those of the 66 books of the Bible who was not a Jew. The author of the Gospel that bears his name and of the book of Acts, he undertook to give an accurate account (Luke 1: 3) of the life of Jesus and of the heroic doings of the apostles.

In both the Gospel and the Acts the work was undertaken for Theophilus, evidently a man of some distinction. And Luke wrote that his purpose was to bring the reader to know the certainty concerning the things he would record. And we find that Luke, in an unscientific age, was a scientific historian who had consulted eyewitnesses and ministers of the word in preparing his manuscript.

Luke had opportunity to talk with those who had known Christ and heard his teaching, and he was personally acquainted with Paul and other great men of the new faith. In the account of the vision of the man of Macedonia, we note what have been called the "we sections" in the narrative, indicating that the author himself was then with Paul. So Luke was himself an eyewitness of much that he records.

It should strengthen our faith in the record to learn of the labor and care that Luke gave to the writing of the life of our Lord and of the heroic activity of Paul and others in planting Christian churches here and there.

State Season Starts Saturday

San Diego State College puts its undefeated football string of 13 games in definite peril Saturday night when it opens its season against an old nemesis, San Jose State. Kickoff time for the Aztec Bowl encounter is 8:15.

San Jose, loaded with lettermen and reportedly vastly improved over last year's lackluster club, will rule as a decided favorite to continue its long-standing jinx over Coach Bill Schutee's Aztecs.

ALLOWANCE CUT

By CLARK WESTON

THINGS went along smoothly with the William Haigs, so long as the exchequer lacked not in luere. But when in the early part of 1930 Old Man Depression gained almost complete possession of the U.S.A., and William Haig's income was reduced from $30,000 per annum to $10,000 per annum—then things weren't so pleasant.

The Haigs weren't used to such poverty. They became irritable.

"It's bad enough," Mrs. Haig was saying one bleak fall evening, "to have my allowance cut to one hundred a week, let along having to get along without a personal maid. It's—it's humiliating!"

"Your allowance," said Mr. Haig, looking around the edge of his paper, "composes just one-half of the family's total income. Your lack of economy is most alarming. Beginning tomorrow, you go on $75 per."

Mrs. Haig looked as though she were about to burst a blood vessel. She might have, had not, at that moment, the front door bell rung.

They listened while the maid opened the door, allowing a blast of cold air to circulate the spacious living room. Mrs. Haig shuddered, and then cocked her head as a thin voice came trailing in from the hall.

"Would you mind please," said the voice, "if I were to use your telephone? My husband is sick and——"

"Let her use the 'phone if she likes, Laura. She can't hurt it."

Mr. Haig turned in his chair as the hall doorway opened and a woman entered, a small woman with a tattered shawl thrown over her shoulders; a woman whose face was drawn and white from the cold. She paused just inside the door and said, "oh," as if embarrassed.

Mr. Haig nodded toward the telephone.

The William Haigs couldn't very well help hearing the conversation, though they tried politely not to. And when the little woman was through, Mrs. Haig looked up and smiled at the little woman's thanks.

The little woman paused for a moment, allowing her eyes to wander about the room, and finally Mrs. Haig said: "You think it's pretty?"

"It's nice," said their visitor, her tone was faintly wistful. "Nice and warm."

The little woman gazed wistfully at the fireplace. "No," she said slowly, "No, we haven't any wood. And Robert—he's my husband—Robert's too proud to ask the town for help. You see"—she seemed ashamed of the admission—"we've always been able to buy wood before. But now Robert's sick and we must have some."

"Yes, sir."

"And you've lived in Maplewood—how long?"

"Thirty-two years next month."

"And you've been paying taxes all that time?"

"Yes. We used to own our house, you know. Now——"

Mr. Haig stood up with his back to the fire. "Mrs. Morgan," he said "I just overheard your conversation with the town welfare board. I gathered that they refused to give you any wood?"

Mrs. Morgan nodded. "They said Robert was paid by the mill for working last week. But that money's gone now, for medicine."

"It seems to me," said Mr Haig, "that this town owes you something, Mrs. Morgan. You've been a good citizen for thirty-two years, paid your taxes and contributed to projects of a public nature. Now you practically beg for money that is rightfully your own. You've as much right to it as anyone else. Who, I'd like to know, the devil does this welfare board think it is?"

"It seems," said William Haig, "as if you ought to be cared for without having to undergo all the humiliation. That's what counts." He frowned. "Mrs. Morgan, you go on home, and I'll see what I can do with that welfare board. In the meantime I'll have our chauffeur carry over enough wood from the cellar to keep you warm."

Mrs Morgan seemed on the point of tears, and at sight of her expression Mrs Haig came across the divan and placed an arm about the little woman's shoulder.

"And while Ordway is bringing over the wood," she said, "I'll ask Laura to see what she can do about finding something to eat. I'll also call Dr. Godfrey myself and ask him to come up to see your husband. I wouldn't worry," continued Mrs. Haig, "about being warm and having enough to eat from now on."

When Mrs. Morgan had gone, Mrs. Haig came back to the fireplace and said, without looking up "William, you know it's impossible to do anything with the welfare board. They're almost destitute themselves and are really doing the best they can."

"And we've promised them food and warmth. Well, they'll have it. Ten minutes ago I cut your allowance twenty-five dollars. I'm restoring the amount to your weekly stipend, my dear. Where do you want it sent,"

Mrs. Haig looked up brightly. "Humiliation is a terrible thing, William. I think we'd better send it to the Morgans."

"Little Police" Guard Your Kiddies

With the opening of school this month, a well-known character reappears on the American scene. He is a small, sturdy boy wearing a white armband and Sam Browne belt who fills the honorable post of traffic monitor or junior policeman for his school.

Many a motorist watching him as he holds back a restless crowd of youngsters at the curb smiles with amusement and says, "Isn't he cute?"

As long as the motorist watches the young man's actions carefully and obeys his signals, there's no harm in thinking he's cute.

He is an important factor in preserving the lives of our children who are trooping back to school these days. Along with his appearance on the scene, bright yellow signs blossom out; caution, stop signs, and speed limits that mean what they say.

Yet, with all these efforts to guard the safety of our children, hundreds will be killed or permanently injured in traffic accidents during this school year. And statistics show that most accidents to young children are the result of adult carelessness. This disgrace to America can be wiped out. Every adult can do something about it.

If you have school age children, reinforce the school's safety teachings with teaching of your own. Know that your child understands the dangers of traffic before he starts out that first day of school.

Know that he stops and looks at every crossing, between your home and the school or the place where he is picked up by the school bus. If you are not perfectly confident, go with him yourself or put him in the care of a responsible older child.

Know that he obeys the instructions of the traffic monitors as well as those of the "real" policeman.

Don't allow older children to drive or ride in unsafe "jalopies." If your youngsters ride bicycles, be sure they know and follow the rules of the road.

If you drive a car, be doubly careful near schools or wherever children play. Don't just slow down at a stop sign and take a quick look. Stop and look carefully. Watch for school monitors and school crossing policemen and obey their instructions.

Stop dead when a school bus is stopped. Have your brakes, tires, and lights checked regularly. Avoid skidding by having good tire treads and by keeping speed low.

If you carry children to and from school in your car, don't over-crowd the car. Insist on orderly behavior by the children in the car. A safety device should be installed on car doors to keep children from falling from the moving car.

By following these rules, you will help to cut down the tragic toll of the leading cause of death and disability among children.

WOMAN'S WORLD

Hands, Nails, Feet Demand Fullest Care For Good Grooming

By ERTTA HALEY

HAND AND NAIL care, as well as care given to your feet are as much a part of good grooming as pressing your clothes and seeing that your make-up is put on with care. Unless your hands, nails and feet can stand close inspection, then it's best to check on what you can do to improve them.

A weekly or semi-weekly manicure plus a weekly pedicure is a necessity on every woman's good grooming list. You'll not only look the better for it, but you'll feel more like a finished and well groomed person for having taken the time for them.

Many a career and business girl has a weekly manicure which, naturally, makes her beauty up-keep easier, but home care can lend just as good results. Manicuring of the successful variety, is, after all, a matter of practice.

Modern preparation can help to simplify what was formerly a very tedious job, and there are so many creams and oils which can make much of the work easier, it can easily be done.

Pedicures can bring an especially good feeling of being well groomed; they should never be neglected. Even more than that, however, is that they are necessary for foot health. You can wash away or rub away many spots and old skin which could form into corns or calouses—both painful.

Massage cream into elbows . . .

Let a pedicure give you a springy, comfortable walk. You'll also be able to save money on hose because there won't be rough spots to catch them.

Here are Tips For Manicure

The first step in the manicure is the removal of old polish. An easy way to do it is to saturate a quilted cotton square with remover and press against each nail. This will dissolve the polish so it can be whisked off with one or two strokes.

Next, shape the nails with an emery board, using first the coarse side, then the fine one. File from the outer edges to the center to prevent chipping and breaking. Use even strokes, as short, choppy ones are damaging.

Oval tips are most becoming to every nail. Sharp and pointed nails give a dangerous look to a woman's nails, and they will also break off more easily than oval shaped ones.

Don't file your nails too closely at the sides as they may develop extreme sensitivity, and don't try to wear them too long if your nails are brittle and break easily. It's better to have them all uniform, and shorter than uneven in length.

Brittle nails require extra oil, and hence the oily polish removers as well as nail oils are best for this. You may also find special protective cream or lotion for very brittle nails so polish won't be too drying on them.

Soaking the nails in a bowl of warm water will soften the cuticle. If desired, use a cuticle cream for more softening. Massage this cream well into the nail, and the cuticle, and give the fingertips a good pinching for exercise.

Try to Eliminate Cuticle Cutting

There are many different views on cutting the cuticle but many experts believe that cutting should be avoided. Cuticle can be trained to stay back, if it's pushed very gently with the blunt edge of the orange stick covered with a bit of cotton.

Cuticle, the experts feel, should be cut only when you have hang nails. Well massaged and rubbed cuticle, pushed gently back will often eliminate hang nails, as well as cut down the time needed for manicuring.

Drinkers Back On Full Schedule

Barroom drinkers will not lose an hour to Standard time changes. Liquor licensed premises must be closed at 2 a. m., but they can remain open for one additional hour when 2 a. m. arrives on Sunday, September 28.

At that time Daylight Saving Time is discarded. Clocks are to be set back on hour and sales of alcoholic beverages may continue until 2 a. m. Standard Time arrives.

Liquor licensed premises lost an hour of business at 1 a. m. on April 27 when Daylight Saving Time began and clocks were set ahead an hour. On September 28, the lost hour will be returned.

Appliance Group To Hear Du Mont Honor Chamberlain

Allen B. Du Mont "father of television," to speak at Bureau anniversary meeting.

Climaxing the observation of Electrical Living Week from September 22-27 throughout San Diego County, the Bureau of Home Appliances will celebrate its 20th Anniversary at the Hotel del Coronado on Friday, September 26.

More than 800 dealer and distributor Bureau members, manufacturers' representatives, utility executives, electric industry trade journalists and their guests, are expected to attend, according to J. Clark Chamberlain, secretary-manager of the Bureau.

The program will highlight the phenomenal development and introduction to daily use in the past twenty years of more than a score of electrical appliances. It will feature the resulting rapid growth of both the appliance business and the utility industry in San Diego County. Chamberlain will be specially honored for his contribution throughout the twenty years as a founder and guiding manager of the Bureau's activities.

Two nationally-known electric industry executives will address the group. Dr. Allen B. Du Mont, president, Du Mont Laboratories, East Patterson, New Jersey, widely known as the "father of television" will discuss "The Television Industry, Today and Tomorrow." The subject of John C. Sharp, president, Hotpoint Company, Chicago, Illinois will be "A Great Industry Looks Ahead."

Christian Science Bible Lesson Says God Made Good Only

God is omnipotent, omnipresent, omniscient and is the source of all that is real and good, and of nothing else, according to the Sunday Lesson-Sermon on "Reality" in all Christian Science churches.

The Golden Text is from I Chronicles (29:11): "Thine, O Lord, is the greatness, and the power ,and the glory, and the victory and the majesty: for all that is in the heaven and in the earth is thine; thine is the kingdom O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all."

Check Fire Hazards For Fire Week Asks Mason

Fire Prevention Week will be marked in Lemon Grove October 5-11 according to Fire Commissioner Channing Mason.

"The tail end of a dry season is especially hazardous," says he. "With the kiddies back in school some time should be devoted to eliminating conditions inside as well as outside the home that might feed a fire."

Class Officers Named

The following class officers were elected by the 8-4 class of the Lemon Grove Intermediate School: Leah Conlee, president; Kith Jensen, vice president; Christine Hem, secretary; Diane Oderkerk treasurer; and Bill Elkins, student council representative. Mrs. Whalen is the home-room teacher.

FACTS AND FIGURES ON SILVER GATE UNIT NO. 4
Cost $8,000,000 installed.
Weighs 400 tons.
Operates continuously at 3600 revolutions per minute.
Boilers fueled by 2730 barrels of fuel oil daily and 7560 tons of air.

It alone can produce enough electric energy to supply the normal electric needs for a town of 140,000 persons.

It is fitting that this clean, white, electric power producing package became a part of the San Diego electric system during Electrical Living Week – for it will provide additional electricity for San Diego's present needs – and also will serve as a reserve source of electrical power to meet the demands of this area's steadily increasing population.

Bible Celebration At LM Presbyterian

The La Mesa United Presbyterian Church, 4426 Harrison Avenue, will join next Sunday in the nationwide celebration marking the publication of the new Revised Standard Version of the Bible. At the 11 o'clock worship service the Minister, Rev. Leon E. Raines, will speak to the theme suggested for the day by the National Council of Churches of Christ in America: "The Word of Life in a Living Language."

This new Revised Standard Version of the Bible which will be released for sale to the public on Tuesday, Sept. 30, represents 15 years work by 21 of the outstanding Bible scholars of the United States and Canada. It is not a private translation but the Authorized Bible of forty major Protestant denominations in the United States and Canada, representing over 35 million members. Its preparation and publication has been directed through the International Council of Religious Education and the National Council of Churches.

Says Rev. Raines, "This Bible will be one of the greatest forward steps of Christianity during the 20th century. It's a Bible people can easily read and understand. It is the same Holy Scriptures that have been the basis of our faith for centuries but now it has been accurately translated into the language of today. Even if you've never read the Bible much before, you'll read this one — for once you start you won't want to put it down."

Sievens Combine Convention & Vacation

Mr. and Mrs. V. A. Stevens, 3515 Olive Street in Lemon Grove are attending the National Soft Water Service Convention and Trade Show at the Conrad Hotel in Chicago.

They operated the Culigan Water Service here.

Enroute to the convention they visited in Colorado. On the return trip they will spend a few days in Florida, arriving in Lemon Grove about October 6th.

COSTLY HANG-OVER . . . An expensive hang-over is experienced by this gasoline trailer truck which was one of the two trucks that jacknifed over the Cienega Wash bridge on highway 80, 28 miles east of Tucson, Arizona, recently. The road on which the accident occurred was blocked seven hours to all traffic before workmen could devise a safe way of removing the wreckage from the path of traffic.

'Ike' Will Speak In San Diego Early in October

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower will bring his presidential campaign to San Diego early in October, his visit to this area being one of the highlights of a western speaking tour.

Announcement of the date will be made as soon as the state Eisenhower - Nixon Committee has worked out details of the general's appearances elsewhere in California.

Work On Telephone Building Addition To Have More Phones

Construction work is moving rapidly forward this week on a one-story lateral building addition to the telephone office in La Mesa according to Manager S. S. Campbell of The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The new addition was started last month and is scheduled to be completed in February, the manager said. Framed for two stories, the $160,000 structure will have a steel frame and will be completely fire resistive. A new terra cotta face also will be built on both the new addition and the front of the present central office.

More than 5,600 square feet of floor space will be provided when the addition is completed, Campbell said, to double the amount of space in the present building. More dial switching equipment will be installed when the building addition is completed to provde new telephones for many of those now waiting for service.

Architecturally designed by the firm of Parkinson, Powelson, Briney, Bernard and Woodford, the building addition is being erected for the telephone company by the R. J. Daum Construction Company.

"This new major addition to the central office building on Lemon avenue is another step taken by your telephone company in its tremendous and continuing expansion program to provide for unprecedented communications growth here" the manager said.

Ellen Hall Joins Grossmont Faculty

Mrs. Ellen Hall has recently joined the faculty of Grossmont High School in a permanent capacity. She has long been a substitute teacher on the campus.

Mrs. Hall will teach the math classes scheduled for Ralph Brown whose death before school opened created a vacancy filled September 18 by the Board of Trustees.

Mrs. Hall who lives in Plumosa Park in San Diego, took her M. A. from the university of Minnesota, and taught in New York at Plattsburg State Teachers College and at the Peru Central High School. She also taught for two years in Guam while her officer husband was stationed there.

Mrs. Hall's son is a Stanford freshman, her daughter a 9th grader, and her younger son an 8th grader at Dana Jr. H. S. Mr. Hall works for the San Diego City Schools.

Mrs. Leonard's Crochet Needles Win Again

Mrs. George E. Leonard, 8432 Golden Avenue, was again named winner at the Los Angeles County Fair. Her crocheted filet chair set, luncheon cloth, and table runner were adjudged winners.

Last week Mrs. Leonard won a blue ribbon in the national crochet contest and she was awarded a gold cup for her tablecloth which was called "best of Fair."

Applied Science For Adult Students

A course in Applied Science is offered on Tuesday and Thursday evening by the Grossmont Adult School, according to John Davis, Principal. Meeting from 7:00 to 10:00 p.m. in Room 22 of Helix High School, the course, taught by William Ramsey, is non-technical with emphasis on practical applications.

Mr. Ramsey will include such subjects as atomic energy, basic electricity, household chemistry, and heredity. Class work consists of discussion, demonstration, and laboratory.

Information regarding this or any course offered is available at H6-4155.

Four New Members For Kiwanis

There are four new Kwanians in Lemon Grove this week. Inducted Wednesday were Ben Schei, Dr. S. Brumbaugh, Sam Sollender and Clarence Allen.

All members of the organization have been alerted for action in the Kid's Day project Saturday. The event is part of a national program staged by the Kiwanis each year. All kids are asked to participate, all adults are asked to watch.

Carlsbad Sets Business Lic. Fee

Newly incorporated Carlsbad is to get a new business license law.

The proposed ordinance was to have its first reading before Carlsbad City Council tonight.

It includes a $60 fee for general contractors and $50 for subcontractors.

Self - employed professionals giving services will be exempted payment of a fee on gross receipts up to $1000, it was decided.

Those employed at home selling goods will not have to pay a fee up to $2500 gross receipts.

INSURANCE PROGRAM
There is no doubt about it, a good pie is like a good Insurance Program. Many a man thinks that he has to have a lot of dough to start one. He thinks that the agent and the insurance companies have a lot of crust to charge what they do. Nevertheless, the truth of the matter is that you do not have to have a lot of dough; the main thing is to have an expert see that the dough is mixed properly and that you are covered top, bottom and sides — just like a good pie.

Cattle Business Not Easy

The cattle business in Lemon Grove is not an easy road to a life of ease and wealth in spite of the present price of cattle, according to F. W. Dorman, Farm Advisor. It normally takes at least one hundred head of cows to provide a good living for a family, and on today's real estate market it will cost between $1200 and $1500 for enough land to carry each cow.

With the price the rancher gets for his beef having dropped at least 20% in the last nine months, the cattle business is very speculative. High capital investment costs, combined with the speculative nature of the business makes it a very hazardous venture for people not thoroughly familiar with it.

Dorman urges that those planning on going into the cattle business carefully investigate all of the details before investing their money in a venture that may be disappointing.

Blue Print Reading Classes Start

A course in Blue Print Reading and Layout is available Tuesday evenings, from seven to nine under the program offered by the Grossmont Adult School. Meeting is room 83 on the Grossmont campus, the course will be flexible in nature to meet, as far as possible, the needs of the students.

According to the teacher, Don Taylor, the class will include the following:

Practice and technique in the use of drafting equipment.

Layout for drawing.

House design.

Types of building materials, durability and cost.

Other topics as indicated by the needs of those registered in the course.

Mr. Taylor, the instructor, is also a member of the Grossmont day school faculty, teaching Mechanical Drawing and Driver's Education.

ROCKET MISHAP ABOARD CARRIER . . . Somewhere off the Korean coast, what could have been a major disaster was averted by crewmen on the aircraft carrier USS Bataan when a faulty rocket was detached on the flight deck from a navy Corsair and cut in half by the plane's propeller. Balmy Biographies

MARK TWAIN and Chauncey M. Depew once went abroad on the same ship. When the ship was a few days out they were both invited to a dinner, and when speech-making time came, Mark Twain had the first chance. He spoke twenty minutes and made a great hit. Then it was Mr. Depew's turn.

"Mr. Toastmaster and Ladies and Gentlemen," said the famous raconteur as he rose, "Before this dinner Mark Twain and myself made an agreement to trade speeches. He has just delivered my speech, and I thank you for the pleasant manner in which you received it. I regret to say that I have lost the notes of his speech and cannot remember anything he was to say."

Then he sat down, and there was much laughter.

• • •

"My rubber," said Nat Goodwin, the famous actor, describing a Turkish bath that he once had in Mexico, "was a very strong man. He laid me on a slab and kneaded me and punched me and changed me in a most emphatic way. When it was over and I had gotten up he came up behind me, before my sheet was adjusted, and gave me three resounding slaps on the back with the palm of his enormous hand.

" 'What the blazes are you doing?' I gasped, staggering.

" 'No offense, sir,' said the man, 'it was only to let the office know that I was ready for the next bather. You see, sir, the bell's out of order in this room.' "

A story of Winston Churchill—told by Gertrude Atherton:

"Shortly after he left the Conservative side of the House (of Commons) for the Liberal, he was taking a certain young woman down to dinner, when she looked up at him coquettishly, and remarked with the audacity of her kind:

" 'There are two things I don't like about you, Mr. Churchill.'

" 'And what are they?'

" 'Your new politics and mustache.'

" 'My dear madam,' he replied suavely, 'pray do not disturb yourself. You are not likely to come in contact with either.' "

Richard A. Nelson (right), president of the United Red Feather Fund, is shown pinning a red feather on C. THOSE DARN Chinese Reds have been associating with Americans too much for the good of their philosophy and ours, even if the relationship has been only on a hostile basis.

Chinese are expected to believe that this sojourn is only a camp on the trek to join the great infinite. Enterprise in this life is futile, they say, because our days here are fleeting and earthly hopes are as dry as the bamboo walls in Chinese houses. Americans are just the opposite.

But now the Chinese at the Panmunjom truce site in Korea are digging in for a long stay and are replacing the battered conference tent, that could have been folded silently any night and whisked away, with a solid wooden house—a structure that can stand indefinitely.

Fryer Production Subject Of Local Meetings

Fryer production problems and outlook will be discussed at U. C. Agriculture Extension Service meetings to be held next week according to Robert H. Adolph, Farm Adviser. These meetings for interested fryer producers will be held throughout San Diego County as follows.

Ramona, 7:30 p. m., Monday, Sept. 29, Ramona High School.

El Cajon, 7:30 p. m., Tuesday, Sept. 30, Agricultural Building of Grossmont High School.

Vista, 7:30 p. m., Wednesday, Oct. 1, at Vista Union High School.

Fryer production is a very important phase of the San Diego County poultry industry. All interested poultrymen are invited to attend and discuss the present and future of San Diego County's fryer business.

It's Not A Drill Team; It's The Postmaster

Area residents were doing a "double take" last week when they saw their favorite postmen closely trailed by Frenchy Faucher, Grove postmaster.

The editor ran into the happy postal duo in Monterey Heights. It was not a stakeout designed to secretly find out what his minions were doing Frenchy has tened to point out.

To adequately serve this growing area constant recommendation for increased service must be made to the Post Office Department in Washington. These recommendations must be backed up by facts and figures, says Frenchy.

Once each year he makes the trek around the delivery track. Houses are counted and so are delivery stops. Time studies are made. It also gives the postmaster a chance to report first hand on new streets and residence developments.

So if you see what looks like a two man drill team that appears to be lost from the rest of the squad, don't call the local Air Force office. It'll be Frenchy and one of his postmen counting and delivering.
